

Russ Weed, President, CLEANTECH STRATEGIES

Russ is a seasoned business developer, marketing and sales leader, and legal manager, with 29 years of experience in the energy storage, renewables, and electronics industries. He has a track record of success at GE, UET, and leading law firms when an attorney in private practice. In 2018, Russ established the consultancy CleanTech Strategies LLC. The firm's clients include Sandia National Laboratories as an energy storage program consultant; engineering and manufacturing company Hotstart with 78 years of experience providing thermal management systems for engines, equipment, and now energy storage; engineering, procurement, and construction firm Potelco, part of Quanta Services (NYSE: PWR), which will build the Horn Rapids Solar, Storage, and Training project in conjunction with utility Energy Northwest; and Advanced Rail Energy Storage (ARES), with a 50MW project in Nevada providing regulation services into the CAISO market.