

Sam Buechner is a Director on the Renewable Energy and Environmental Finance (REEF) team at Wells Fargo, where she originates, structures and diligences tax equity investments in solar, solar + storage, wind, and other low-carbon technologies. Prior to joining Wells in 2013, Sam was a sustainability strategy consultant at boutique firm GreenOrder. Sam volunteers with local renewable energy non-profits GRID Alternatives and WeCare Solar. She holds a BA from Stanford University.