

Josh Dale is an Executive Director on the Project Finance team at Rabobank. He has been working in PF since 2010, both as lender and financial advisor across multiple sectors and regions. In recent years, he has been focused exclusively on renewable energy projects across the Americas. He primarily finances wind and solar, but has been increasing his efforts in the energy storage and waste-to-energy space. He is a CFA Charterholder, holds an MBA from the Schulich School of Business and a BComm from McGill University.
